Claire Warden®

Inspiration to think about art in the 'Inside, Outside and Beyond' spaces of your setting.

Course Description

Transient art, or ephemeral art, is a form of art that takes place wherever you are. It is a creative process which engages children in the moment.

What are the play affordances of the natural world around you, and how can we inspire our children to be creative and engaged in the process?

Join us as we delve deeper into understanding the importance of space, time, resources and the adult role, in providing experiences for children to engage and learn.
